Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

From Our Pastor

A special thank you to the Men's Club who are hosting Septoberfest on Saturday evening, September 6th, after the evening Mass.

Now that the school year is well underway, we return to Donut Sundays with this weekend hosted by our 8th grade students. Please join us after Sunday morning Masses for refreshments.

All of our extra programs have now also begun with the return of the school year. That includes Lifeteen for any high school students in the area. St. Thomas hosts the session on Sunday, September 7th.

On Monday, September 8th, the Michael Gormley program, Inclusion, will begin to look at the biblical foundations of the Church.

On Wednesday, we continue with our joint CCD program with St. Vincent de Paul Parish for grade school students who are not in a Catholic school. This is followed by OCIA classes for those who want to become Catholic or learn more about the Catholic faith.

On Thursday, Women of the Word begin their fall series, and the men continue That Man is You on Friday mornings.

There is no shortage of opportunities for faith enrichment. I encourage you to take part.

- Msgr. Gray

Most Holy Name of Mary
September 12

The name of Mary is regarded as holy because it is the name of the Mother of God - She who brought the savior into the world. This feast was added to the universal calendar in 1984 by Blessed Innocent XI, commemorating the defeat of the Turks at the gate of Vienna the previous year - a powerful example of the might of the Blessed Virgin's intercession.

O clement, O loving, O sweet Virgin Mary,
pray for us Most Holy Mother of God,
that we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.

OCIA Schedule

Sept 10: Apostolic Tradition, Sacred Scripture, Revelation, Faith

Sept 17: Trinity, God is Three, God is One

Sept 24: God the Father, Creator of Heaven and Earth

When you go to the poor, you encounter Jesus

The Refrigerator

This is a reflection on a recent assignment I had with our St. Vincent De Paul conference here at St. Thomas. It is an example of a typical situation we encounter in our mission to serve the poor.

My partner and I received a call from our helpline on one of the hottest days this summer. We visited the family consisting of a woman "Linda", her two teenage daughters, and her 2 year old grandson (quite a cutie). They needed a refrigerator. Theirs had been "going out" for the past week, and quit completely yesterday, making the situation urgent. Linda worked two jobs as a nurse assistant. She wasn't able to get full time hours, but said she was taking any shift available, hoping to secure a regular hospital spot. The family car was out of commission with no foreseeable way to pay for repairs. She put the payments on hold for a while, but that won't go on long without it being repossessed. Linda's sister, (who was in similar straits) was helping her with transportation while the heat was so oppressive. Linda can take the bus, but was hoping to scrape up enough money to have the car fixed by winter.

Linda reported that she was up to date on her rent and her Ameren (thanks to some once a year help from energy assistance programs), but those bills take most of her unpredictable income each month and right now funds are pretty low. She said that she had a grocery order ready to place at Wal Mart, and could put it in at midnight because her SNAP (nutrition/food stamps) benefits posted to the bank tomorrow. The problem was that she did not have money for a refrigerator, and so couldn't place the order until she had one. This currently caput fridge was in the house when she moved in, but the landlord told her that when it went, he would not be replacing. Also, one of Linda's daughters had a casted hand/arm injury she didn't seem to want to talk about.

We offered resource information (as we always do) about other sources of help for her overall situation. Linda seemed pretty savvy in this regard and in our visit, seemed focused on "milk for the baby". No other agency in our area helps with purchasing or delivering appliances, but St. Vincent De Paul tries to help with whatever is the most pressing need. We make a home visit, and we talk things over with folks.

My temptation was to judge Linda and her situation by my standards and life paradigm. Why buy a car you couldn't afford from a shady lender who preys on people? Why aren't these teenagers working to help pay the bills? Where is the baby's, and for that matter the teenager's father (s)? Do these guys help? I smell marijuana in this house, how much does that cost? Why do you keep switching jobs? However, the elements outside, and the milk container in a bag of ice in the kitchen sink pushed those thoughts aside. These questions didn't seem to matter in that moment. We could at least help this family get a refrigerator. Thankfully, thankfully, God blesses us with generous donors here at St. Thomas. We worked through it. Linda did her part and found a used fridge for around $300 and a couple of young men to help get it in and out of the truck. (Linda's sister brought them in her car after her shift) I contacted another member of our St. Vincent De Paul group and he showed up with his truck and got it moved from the used (and I must say a little stinky in the heat) appliance store. She did get a one year warranty. Fingers crossed.

Linda was grateful, and happy she said, to "get her Walmart order in" (and of course pay a delivery fee, but there was no way around that) I have learned much about poverty in my Saint Vincent De Paul work. This case highlights the pattern of just surviving from one crisis to the next which seems universal for the people we serve. I have also learned much about myself, my attitudes, my preconceptions, and I hope, where Jesus is leading me to greater understanding and compassion. I wasn't meant to learn the answers to the questions I struggled with for Linda, valid as they may have been, but I certainly know God tells me to help my neighbor. So, I believe the lesson in this was "There but for the Grace of God go I" and sometimes its simple... Don't we all just need a working refrigerator? With gratitude for my SDVP friends, and for our Parish,

Chris Clemons
